Keynote Speakers

Denise Goldsworthy

Denise began her career in the mining sector at 17 as a trainee Metallurgist. Under Denise's leadership, Dampier Salt, the world's largest exporter of solar salt, has seen its profits nearly doubled to US$129 million from 2008 to 2009. This strategy and success saw her appointed to the role of Managing Director of another Rio Tinto subsidiary, HIs melt and recently named 2010 Telstra Australian Business Women of the Year. Her successes include improving business performance, driving improved safety standards, increasing workforce engagement and reducing staff turnover. Denise was recently inducted into the WA Women's Hall of Fame.

Sinead Kaufman

Graduating from University of Birmingham in the UK with a Bachelor of Science; Honours in Geology, and later a Master of Science in Mineral Exploration, Sinead now manages Rio Tinto's Greater Paraburdoo operations. Sinead's passions and work interests have seen her travel around the globe working in Spain, Siberia, South Africa, Queensland and now Paraburdoo. As the General Manager of Operations at Rio Tinto's Paraburdoo mine, Sinead is responsible for managing the sites annual production of approximately 22 million tonnes.

Sabina Shugg

Since studying mining engineering at the WA School of Mines in Kalgoorlie Sabina went on to become WA's first female underground mine manager. After various resource sector roles Sabina is now at Momentum Partners, a management consulting firm in Perth. In 2003 Sabina established WIMWA, the Women in Mining and Resources networking group in WA. In 2010 she received the inaugural CMEWA Women in Resources Champion Award. Sabina was recently inducted into the WA Women's Hall of Fame.

Charlotte McCully

Moving to Tom Price at age 10, Charlotte went on to a career in nursing which she left 15 years ago to join Rio Tinto as a truck driver. After 11 years at Rio Tinto's Marandoo and Brockman operations in various roles from truck driver to production coordinator, Charlotte left Rio Tinto to join BGC Contracting as a mining engineer at Koolan Island. Since 2007, Charlotte has been at Rio Tinto's Yandi operations in Operations Planning and Production Superintendent roles and has recently been promoted to Manager Mining Yandi Operations.

Barbara Wood

Barbara joined the resources sector as a truck driver after a career in nursing, and has continued to be promoted through the ranks to her current role of Emergency Management Officer. Barbara has completed nine Ironman triathlons, several marathons, a 100km race, a 40 mile event and finished 3rd female and 15th overall in the 2010 Australian Racing the Planet event. Recently Barbara was a finalist in the 2011 CME Outstanding Woman in the WA Resources Sector - Trade/Operator/Technician category.
